Installation of New Transmission Lines, and Transformers at the Hawaii Bureau, FBIB

REF. : Teletype message No. HO71638 dated 7 December 1948 from the Hawaii Bureau, FBIB. (Copy attached)

1. Procurement of necessary equipment for the installation of an improved antenna distribution system at the FBIB Hawaii Bureau was begun in October 1947. The internal installation of this system in the operations building has recently been finished by the radio engineers on the Bureau staff.

2. The external installation of coaxial antennae transmission lines and matching transformers has not as yet been done, and is necessary to properly complete the system. This outside antennae work requires the services of experienced linemen and the use of equipment available only through commercial facilities.

3. The Mutual Telephone Company, the only available contractor on the Island of Kauai, has submitted an estimate of $150.00 for the installation of the coaxial antennae transmission lines and the six matching transformers. The services necessary for the completion of this project cannot be obtained under the provisions of AGO-400. The item was not included on the FBIB Table of Requirements.

4. It is therefore requested that approval for this project be granted, and that necessary authorization be furnished the Chief, Hawaii Bureau, through this office.
